

Dufry shops show that getting a makeover from Estee Lauder is a real Pleasure

There are various ways for a woman to pamper herself, and one way is to enjoy a makeover from the Dufry Estee Lauder Beauty Advisors Jacky Webb, Jacqueline van Dinter or Angelica Rojas. All day Friday they were incredibly busy giving makeovers and transforming many of Aruba's female press members.

The day ended with a gala cocktail party and the launching of two new products to the Estee Lauder classic "Pleasures" collection of scents. Now, in addition to the original Pleasures scent, women can envelope themselves in the fresh, light fruity tones of 'Pleasures Exotic' with just a hint of passion fruit, or they can tempt an innamorata with the deeper, sexier "Pleasures Intense." The fresh, flowery nuances of the original "Pleasures" still delights the senses.

Present at the cocktail party were Larry Zayas and Fadi Hatam, representatives of Estee Lauder in the Caribbean. Larry was performing makeovers as Fadi introduced customers to the enchanting new scents. The varied line of quality Estee Lauder products worked magic on women of all ages, skin types, and style, transforming the every day into glamour girls. "The News" reporter Rosalie Klein enjoyed being pampered by Beauty expert Jacqueline, under the watchful eye of Rafael, resident expert, and was very pleased with the result, as were 100% of those that partook of the promotion. From cleansing to finishing, it is always a treat to be treated like royalty, and find yourself beautified to boot!

The fresh new Estee Lauder fragrances beg to be given the sniff test, which can be done at the Dufry shop found on Caya Betico Croes in downtown Oranjestad or at the airport. The management of Dufry invites all ladies that need a special look, or want to exploring changing their make-up to make an appointment for a reasonably price make-over at their main street shop, where they can discover the complete line of fine quality Estee Lauder products that has cleansing, toning and make-up perfectly formulated for their skin type.
